

Global Evolver to Participate in Russian Innovation Week Conference

Written by Australian Business

SCOTTSDALE, AZ, September 17, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Global Evolver, a leading global management, technology consulting, and outsourcing company, today announced that the company's Chief Executive Officer, Yana Morford will participate in the annual Russian Innovation Week Conference RIW 2013.

The conference will be held September 19 -20, 2013 in Silicon Valley. The Russian Innovation Week Conference is an invite-only event aiming to establish American-Russian business networking and solid cooperation in the sphere of innovation development by bringing together an elite group of business and government representatives from both countries. A platform to showcase bilateral business opportunities, the conference encourages building, promoting, and developing investment strategies in the industries of cleantech, biotech, pharmaceuticals, life sciences, nanotechnology, and IT.

About Global Evolver

Global Evolver specializes in providing startups and early-stage entrepreneurs with value-added support services that are essential to business success. Global Evolver was founded in 2012 and has its headquarters in Scottsdale, Arizona and a global office located in Russia. It serves companies in United States, Russia, and CIS countries.

Global Evolver provides fully managed outsourced IT services through its Custom Software Development offering. The firm's software development staff is comprised of highly experienced and motivated professionals. Global Evolver has both a US based team and offshore development center in Russia with a dedicated pool of more than 100 software engineers, business analysts, test professionals, web and graphic designers. Global Evolver offers an array of additional services to cater to all types of clientele: Fortune 500 companies, corporate executives, startups, and entrepreneurs. For more information, visit our website at <http://www.globalevolver.com>.