

YouTube Video

Learn more about Total HMI in this video.

Purchase what you need when you need it - TotalHMI is completely customizable with 15 features to choose from.

EVERGREEN, CO, September 17, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- TotalHMI is a website that focuses on all components that are needed today for Human Machine Interface flexibility. The software available can be integrated into any Web, Windows, Mobile and Open Platform application. With visualization and programmatic data access of real-time data with unlimited clients, it makes your data safe and secure anywhere.

Total HMI is the solution for your business that can service various levels of needs. From real-time and historical 2D and 3D trending to hosting live data with just a standard Internet connection, the TotalHMI solution will deliver the efficiencies needed to get your HMI applications to the next level.

The initial cost of TotalHMI is far less than our competitors. But the savings don't stop there. Rapid application development reduces development costs and speeds up time to market. Purchase what you need when you need it - TotalHMI is completely customizable with 15 features to choose from. The one thing that truly sets Total HMI apart is the confidence in the product. Download a fully functional 30 day trial and ask for a free presentation tailored to your specific needs.

Open Automation Software has been a corporate member of the OPC Foundation since 1997. Open Automation Software is a Gold Star Member of the Better Business Bureau maintaining an A+ rating. Open Automation Software is a US corporation providing HMI and SCADA software products for automated systems to customers worldwide since 1993. Our main focus is providing the latest technology solutions for our manufacturing and OEM business customers for open platform HMI and data acquisition applications. We have many distribution and service centers located around the world to help your company reach its product goals.

Open Automation Software has been a corporate member of the OPC Foundation since 1997.