

ATLANTA, GA, September 17, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Oaks Senior Living, which has communities for assisted living in Cumming, Ga., as well as in nearby Braselton, publishes an online newsletter that is available on their website. However, if you sign up to receive it, the newsletter will come directly to your e-mail box as soon as it is published.

What's in the Newsletter?

The newsletter provides information about activities in The Oaks' three communities as well as helpful tips from the professionals who work there, such as how to stay hydrated in the hot Georgia summers. Each newsletter spotlights a different resident and introduces readers to new residents. It is always filled with photos from the many special events and activities in which The Oaks residents enjoying senior living in Georgia can take part.

A Great Resource for Family Members and Prospective Residents

Besides being a community newsletter for the residents, the newsletter helps family members stay current on what is going on at the community for memory care in Atlanta. Prospective residents and their families find it helpful as well to help get a feel for what having a home in The Oaks is like.

Linda Smith, Vice President of Market Development for Oaks Senior Living says, "We want to make it easy for our residents as well as their families to keep up on the activities and people in our communities. By signing up for the newsletter, they don't have to go to the site. The newsletter will be delivered directly to them."

About Oaks Senior Living:

Oaks Senior Living has been providing assisted living for retirees and the elderly since 1998. The Salabarria family who opened their facilities in Braselton and Cumming wanted to provide a home where residents could feel as if it is their own. Their community and its programs promote independence, dignified living and lasting friendships with warm, family and home-like surroundings.
