

PANAMA CITY, FL, September 18, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Zimmermann Staffing, one of the leading staffing agencies in workforce solutions, had officially launched its new website. The site heralds their introduction of services to a number of new industries. The integration of these new industries into their arsenal of services being offered will truly make Zimmermann Staffing a "one stop shop" staffing agency for any new client's needs. The new industries include, but certainly are not limited to: Accounting & Finance, Administrative, Aerospace & Defense, Architecture, Call Center, Energy, Engineering, Environmental, Event, Health Services, Labor, Law Enforcement & Security, Manufacturing, Mortgage and Scientific.

While Zimmermann Staffing will remain a cornerstone of the construction staffing industry, client referrals over the last year have prompted Zimmermann Staffing to diversify its services and step into and chart the unfamiliar territories of these industries where competing staffing agencies have been falling short. In an effort to offer the same high-quality support they are known for, to these new markets, Zimmermann has grown and departmentalized itself by adding new industry-knowledgeable management and staff. They've maintained the ideals of their old slogan, "The Experts in Construction Staffing," in their new market-ventures, in that they're not just serving the new industries--the Zimmermann teams are actually specializing in them.

Zimmermann Staffing's Professional Department has an already impressive number of notches on its belt as far as placing personnel is concerned--placements span a wide spectrum of white-collar and professional positions. The Accounting & Finance Staffing department has, for instance, placed analysts, auditors, banking professionals, brokers and closing agents, loan processors, mortgage originators, regulatory professionals, service center personnel, tax & AR/AP clerks, title agents and underwriters. The Administrative Staffing department on the other hand, has met the need for administrators, admin assistants, bookkeepers, clerical, executives, human resources and procurement personnel, and sales & marketing personnel. And lastly, so as not to belabor the extent of Zimmermann's capabilities, Call Center Staffing has been placing both large and small groups of billing & collections personnel, customer service, inside sales, brokers, licensed agents, managers & supervisors, technical support and tax & AR/AP clerks, for clients nationwide.

The new, easier to use Zimmermann Staffing website showcases not only the sectors they'll serve, like Accounting & Finance, Administrative, Call Center, Event, Law Enforcement & Security and more, but they've outlined individual positions that they've already had success in staffing. While Zimmermann is only "officially" opening its doors to clients in these new industries as of today, the teams of recruiters and account managers at Zimmermann are no strangers to these specialized fields of work, nor the intricacies therein.

The Zimmermann team is stepping into these industries with a profoundly diverse set of experiences backing them, setting them up to be incredibly well-equipped to deal with the diverse & often hyper-specific needs of each new client. Having staffed high-profile projects in the past has prepared Zimmermann recruiters to be more than capable of qualifying candidates under strict matrices of credentials tailored to each client and his or her job. Some of these projects include: The Pentagon, Walter-Reed National Military Medical Center, Carderock Division - Naval Surface Warfare Center, Texas Instruments, Canon, Boeing, and even some non-continental, federal development projects in the Marshall Islands. Be it background checks, drug tests, skill & competency tests, driving records or company-culture fits--the Zimmermann Staffing team remains "The Experts in Staffing Industries."
