

HEMEL HEMPSTEAD, UNITED KINGDOM, September 18, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Jon Metcalf(e) a.k.a. Kit Spartan, President of Spartan Engineers, has been recognized by Worldwide Who's Who for showing dedication, leadership and excellence in electrical and mechanical engineering.

Mr. Metcalf has a decade of experience in engineering, with two years as president of Spartan Engineers, where he expertly leads the company in the areas of networking, problem solving and communications. Spartan Engineers is an automotive repair company that provides vehicle repair, modification, maintenance, restoration and enhancement services. He is the owner of JMR International and the President of Spartan Electrical and Mechanical Engineers and Spartan Electrical Vehicles, which both fall under JMR International's umbrella. He looks at new technology for transport with a focus on ways to make transportation greener and better for the earth. He works with combustion engines, hybrid engines, and electric vehicles.

He spreads the word about the business through networking and verbal communication. He also has a Spartan Engineers Club which enables like-minded individuals to use the facilities and attend social gatherings. JMR International is about exploring different ways businesses operate from direct selling, market trading, food and shop retailing, hospitality, auto centers and vehicle repair shops, Internet retailing, and commercial and corporate operations.

He attributes his success to the people he has worked for and those that have pushed him to achieve his goals. He became involved in his profession because he has always had an interest in technology, vehicles and engines, as well as his background in information technology and communications. In the coming years, he will continue to run his businesses and will be manufacturing electric vehicles in the UK; providing local jobs to the people in his community.

Mr. Metcalf completed four A-Level courses and is a member of the British Chamber of Commerce. As giving back to the community is important to him, he supports Help for Heroes and the British Red Cross. Outside of his busy professional career, he enjoys dining out, visiting art galleries, watching movies and enjoying the outdoors.
