

CALC Delivers One New A330-243 to Air China

Written by Australian Business

HONG KONG, September 18, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- China Aircraft Leasing Company ("CALC" or the "Company"), a fast growing aircraft leasing company with offices in Hong Kong and Beijing, is pleased to announce the successful delivery of one new A330-243 to Air China Limited ("Air China").

The delivery took place at the Airbus Delivery Center in Toulouse on 4 September 2013 and was part of a series of sale-and-leaseback transactions between CALC and Air China. This A330-243 was the fourth aircraft delivery to successfully complete a mandate from Air China to CALC of four A330s from 2011. The previous A330 deliveries took place in April and July 2012, as well as August 2013.

The A330-243 is a sophisticated aircraft type among the A330 family. Equipped with Rolls-Royce Trent 772C-60 engines, it offers the highest efficiency among comparable aircraft types at low operating costs. Passengers can enjoy a high-level of passenger comfort with an inflight entertainment system installed throughout all classes.

Through its strategic dual-platform structure, CALC offers flexible and competitive leasing solutions to its customers inside and outside China. As an independent lessor, CALC takes advantage of the extensive international financial network in Hong Kong and China, and has access to a wide range of sustainable sources of financing from the region and beyond.
