

RADNOR, PA, September 18, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Radnor High School (PA) has adopted the new, innovative networking technology platform inRecruit.com to help support and promote its student athletes.

"Radnor High School is one of the finest public high schools in all of Pennsylvania. We are thrilled that Radnor High School has elected to join inRecruit to benefit from the inRecruit networking platform for high schools and to open up its strong network to others, said Malik Allen, co-founder of inRecruit."

inRecruit has interviewed countless coaches and professionals in the sports world and studied developments, tendencies and trends in the market in order to tailor its technology platform to the sports industry in a way that allows professionals in sports to quickly and effectively build strong contacts. The platform is quickly being adopted by high schools and high school coaches to network, share information and create rapports which other key influencers in the industry. inRecruit has also attracted the attention of professional sports athletes as over 2 dozens pro athletes have joined inRecruit to support their collegiate and High School Alma Maters.

About inRecruit. inRecruit is a white hot Philadelphia based technology company which has reformed the networking process in terms of college sports recruiting poricess and has drawn attention from major national media outlets such as NBC, Comcast and ABC networks. inRecruit was founded by former professional athletes and social media experts. To join inRecruit as a high school or high school coach, sign up at <http://www.inRecruit.com>. Follow inRecruit on twitter for important network updates at <http://www.twitter.com/inRecruit>

About Radnor High School: Radnor High School is a public high school in Radnor Township, Pannsylvania U.S News & World Report included Radnor in its 2012 list of the top 500 high schools in the nation, and ranked it as the sixth best high school in Pennsylvania. In 2012, The Daily Beast ranked Radnor as one of the top 500 schools in its list of the 1000 best public high schools in the nation.

inRecruit has been dubbed "Linkedin for Sports" and has been featured as the most innovative new social network by NBC, ABC and Comcast networks.