

Musician-Producer Devin Bronson Takes Deeper Stake In BN Audio As Co-Owner

Written by Australian Business

LOS ANGELES, CA, September 18, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- BN Audio, manufacturer of performance portable loudspeaker systems is pleased to announce that Devin Bronson, rock-and-roll lead guitarist / songwriter and music producer is now co-owner of BN Audio.

It's not uncommon to see music artists or athletes endorse a product or brand, however it is a serious step-up commitment when an artist takes ownership in the company behind the brand, its image, future product development and success.

Devin Bronson signed on as BN Audio spokesperson in January 2013. In a short six months of involvement Bronson promoted BN Audio's product, the BlackBox amplified loudspeaker system to multiple major international recording artists that now own, tout, and recommend it throughout the recording and music industry. The enthusiasm of his peers was a determining factor in his decision to get onboard in a significant way, as co-owner.

Devin Bronson commented, "BN Audio is a new brand that will be known and embraced by music enthusiasts with its commitment to building high-performance and affordable consumer loudspeaker systems at a pro-grade level that accurately capture how music should sound, - Big and Natural."

As co-owner, Devin will not only be BN Audio's spokesperson but he is already deeply involved in the new product development. In fact, at CES 2014 at the Bellagio Hotel & Casino, BN Audio will unveil their new amplified Power Trio Portable Bluetooth Loudspeaker Series designed and built for the musician in all of us.

BN Audio's BlackBox loudspeaker system is a perfect audio solution for apartments, dorms, DJs, and musicians alike with its lightweight, compact and portable industrial "band-styling" enclosure that can easily be toted anywhere with a top mounted handle.
