

LONDON, ENGLAND, September 19, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- The website addresses each of the London locations that Exquisite is specifically able to serve as well as the specialist services that we provide to our clients.

Says an OWL team member Doug Engelen:

A desire on the part of Exquisite Construction to clarify and expand on their previous website and to enhance the bare bones of roofing with interesting tidbits led Exquisite to seek out Owl Websites, who were delighted to take the job on.

Throughout the website, facts of the materials that we use and the wide range of assignments that we take on are detailed, hopefully making it practically useful. We then researched the history of roofing and craftsmanship, quotations including roofing or roofers, urban legends, famous images featuring construction workers, roofing in different parts of the world, roofing statistics, and other things to lend interest to the website in between the substantial simplicity of the main text.

With the proliferation of poorly designed and thought out websites that do not do the best they could do to garner new business for the companies that they belong to, Owl Websites hopes that this website will demonstrate to potential clients how committed we are to what we do.
