

ORLANDO, FL, September 19, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Ophthalmologists and optometrists are both medical professionals who take care of their patients' eyes and vision. Ophthalmologists are doctors who can perform surgery to correct eye problems such as glaucoma and cataracts. They can offer complete eye care including diagnosis and treatment of a variety of eye conditions and plastic surgery. Optometrists, on the other hand, focus on regular vision care including prescribing glasses and contact lenses. They are qualified to treat certain conditions such as nearsightedness and astigmatism.

Orlando Eye Institute has some of the leading ophthalmologists in Orlando in their practice. Trained and experienced medical professionals, they provide comprehensive eye care for all their patients. If you are looking for eyelid or laser eye surgery in Orlando, turn to the professionals who have performed these and other procedures successfully throughout their careers.

"We offer the most advanced technology in eye care today with an old-fashioned touch," says Keshini Parbhu, MD. "We believe that taking the time to get to know each of our patients will help us take care of them better. We are committed to providing all our patients with the best eye care available. We achieve this by having qualified and experienced Orlando eye doctors, as well as a professional and caring staff."

Some of the best ophthalmologists, including Orlando cornea specialists can be found at Orlando Eye Institute, where they offer comprehensive eye care for patients of all ages. Taking advantage of the latest technological advances in modern eye care, they are committed to helping their patients keep their eyes healthy and their vision intact for as long as possible.

Visit them at <http://eyesandlids.com/> and see the world differently.

About Orlando Eye Institute:

Since 2010 when it was founded, Orlando Eye Institute has striven to give patients a personal experience where their ophthalmologists could sit down with each patient and get to know them and their eye conditions. Their practice uses cutting-edge technologies and focuses on improving people's overall quality of life through their vision.

Eye Doctors in Orlando, Orlando Eye, Discuss Difference Between Optometrists and Ophthalmologists

Written by Australian Business

Learn more by heading to <http://eyesandlids.com/>.