

GTconsult Announces Strategic Partnership with Lets Collaborate

Written by Australian Business

CAPE TOWN, SOUTH AFRICA, September 20, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- GTconsult and Lets Collaborate have announced a strategic partnership whereby complete SharePoint solutions coupled with end user adoption training and strategies can be delivered as a single solution to their clients.

"It's a match made in heaven" says Bradley Geldenhuys, Director of GT Consult. "We have found that the end user adoption process is the key ingredient to any successful SharePoint solution. Lets Collaborate delivers more than just training. They understand that it's not just about the technology; that it is about using your skills to understand the business problem at hand so you can map the solution to the tools you already have. This is where Lets Collaborate excels", explains Geldenhuys.

"We are very excited about this partnership" says Veronique Palmer, Managing Member of Lets Collaborate. "We specialise in teaching the fundamentals of how and why in SharePoint with our 'think right, build right' philosophy to training and adoption strategies. Our clients often require assistance from a partner who employs a high level of technical and strategic SharePoint skills, and this is where we believe GTconsult really complement our offering. They are the perfect match for our exceptionally high service levels both internally and externally", Palmer explains.

About GTconsult

GTconsult is an "Everything SharePoint" company with offices in Johannesburg, Durban and Cape Town. They have achieved both Microsoft Gold and SharePoint Deployment Services partner status. From planning, implementation and POC's as your SDPS partner, through to design and creation of business applications as your Gold Collaboration & Content partner, using out-of-the-box techniques on SharePoint. They further provide integration into line of business systems as a Business Critical SharePoint Partner.

About Lets Collaborate

Lets Collaborate is an about the people, specialist SharePoint user adoption company that takes a holistic view of SharePoint to address the key success factors critical for effective user adoption and change management in both SharePoint 2010 and 2013. They engage with clients to help them understand the success factors, and design adoption plans to meet the business specific requirements while keeping the strategic goals in mind throughout the process. They are home to one of only six SharePoint Business MVP's globally and all they do is SharePoint.

GTconsult Announces Strategic Partnership with Lets Collaborate

Written by Australian Business