CHICAGO, IL, September 20, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Tom Patterson has been invited to present a National Business Institute seminar in Eau Claire, Wisconsin focusing on indemnity agreements. The seminar will be recorded and available via NBI for CLE credit. Breach of contract cases often focus on indemnity agreements. "A commercial litigation perspective can help transactional lawyers advise their business clients," Patterson said. "Maybe I can help reduce the number of business lawsuits."

The National Business Institute provides continuing legal education (CLE) credit to legal professionals to ensure that they are made aware of emerging rules and regulations within their profession. Mr. Patterson will join Texas attorney Sandra Leigh King to discuss issues surrounding indemnification (including considerations for drafting provisions, agreements containing indemnification clauses, corporate law with regard to indemnification as well as some common errors made when dealing with indemnification agreements).

Mr. Patterson has over thirty years of experience in helping businesses, professionals and entrepreneurs with their business lawsuits.
