

LOS ANGELES, CA, September 20, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- With well-appointed one- and two-story floorplans, a prime hilltop location, and attainable pricing, it's no wonder that more homebuyers have chosen to call Ridgeview in Santa Paula home. After opening the final phase for sales this month, Williams Homes is excited to announce that only a handful of new home opportunities remain at this popular Heritage Valley neighborhood.

"More than the investment value, buying a new home today is a decision about your future," says Daniel Faina, sales and marketing director for Williams Homes. "People who desire homeownership really want to invest in their future and want a home that can fulfill their current lifestyle as well as their long-term goals. From the start, Ridgeview has impressed buyers who want quality craftsmanship, more for their money and a desirable location. The enduring appeal of Ridgeview and the chance to buy one of the last homes should inspire home shoppers to act now."

With the final phase of homes generating strong sales activity, those who have been waiting and watching the market simply cannot afford to miss the opportunity to purchase new at Ridgeview. Home shoppers are encouraged to stop by this weekend for a tour of the model homes and to make their selection from Ridgeview's remaining residences priced from the $400,000s.

Ridgeview's model home tour spotlights three diverse one and two-story single family home designs that feature up to four bedrooms, including two plans with main floor master bedroom suites, and interior living space ranging from approximately 1,609 to 2,253 square feet. Functional and flowing floorplans feature kitchens with stainless steel appliances, granite countertops and center islands, living and dining rooms, luxurious master bedroom suites with walk-in closets, and a long list of impressive home amenities. Room options per plan may include a loft, den, or home office.

To visit Ridgeview from Ventura, take Highway 126 east and exit at 10th Street in Santa Paula and head north on 10th Street to the top of the hill. From Valencia, take Interstate-5 north onto Highway 126 west and exit at 10th Street in Santa Paula and head north on 10th Street to the top of the hill.

The Ridgeview Sales Center is open daily 10am to 6pm. For additional information phone 805.525.6886 or visit online at williamshomes.com.
