

Marina Tseva Cast in SYFY's Lost Girl

Written by Australian Business

LOS ANGELES, CA, September 21, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Marina Tseva, has been cast in SYFY's hit supernatural drama "Lost Girl," where she will be playing a role in a flashback with the main character, 'Bo.'

Created by Michelle Lovretta and produced by Jay Firestone and Prodigy Pictures Inc., in association with Shaw Media; "Lost Girl" follows the life of a Succubus named 'Bo.' Played by Anna Silk, 'Bo,' goes on a journey to control her abilities, discover her origins and help those in need. The series originally premiered on the Canadian channel Showcase on September 12, 2010 to rave reviews, and will return with all new episodes for it's fourth season in 2014.

Marina was most recently seen in the first season of Cinemax's action thriller "Transporter: The Series" as 'Adelyne' a sexy and simple girl with a fondness for fast cars. Although the show had a short-lived life on Cinemax, the show has been picked up for season two on HBO Canada and France. Based on the highly popular film franchise The Transporter, this series follows Frank Martin, 'the Transporter' who delivers anything, anywhere, for a price.

Marina Tseva was born in the Ukraine and raised in Toronto, Canada. She attended St. Robert Catholic High School in Toronto where she discovered her love for drama, dance, and singing. She attended the University of Toronto and majored in film and drama. She has a passion for independent films, producing, acting and continues to hone her craft, studying film acting with Dean Armstrong & Lewis Baumander, and Improvisation at the Second City in Toronto. Her recent mainstream credits include Lost Girl (Syfy), Transporter: The Series (HBO) and Mudpit (Teletoon).