

SAN DIEGO, CA, September 22, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ --Lemon Shark Press is pleased to announce the release of a Futuristic Thriller by Kirby Wright.

THE END, MY FRIEND: Prelude to the Apocalypse is a prophetic vision of the fallout after financial cyclones and the poor leadership of world leaders trigger an economic disaster on a global scale. It's a wild ride as the protagonists flee the burbs of Southern California for the Northern Territories, with their final destination being Crater Lake, Oregon.

Suggested Retail: $14.95

EPUB: $3.99

282 pages

Lemon Shark Press

ISBN-13: 978-0974106793 ISBN-10: 0974106798

BISAC: Fiction / Thrillers

Suggested Retail: $14.95

EPUB: $3.99

Available in EPUB format on Kindle, Nook, Lulu, & Kobo.

"It's nice to have a wife who's armed and dangerous."

—Tony Pernicano, protagonist

KIRBY WRIGHT was a Visiting Fellow at the 2009 International Writers Conference in Hong Kong, where he represented the Pacific Rim region of Hawaii and lectured in China with Pulitzer winner Gary Snyder. He was also a Visiting Writer at the 2010 Martha's Vineyard Residency in Edgartown, Mass., and the 2011 Artist in Residence at Milkwood International, Czech Republic. He is the author of the companion novels Punahou Blues and Moloka'i Nui Ahina, both set in Hawaii.

Lemon Shark Press is a publisher of speculative and fine literature, including poetry and flash fiction.