

TORONTO, ON, September 24, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- CarInsuranceHelp.ca was built on a single idea: "How can we make the process of insurance quoting as easy as possible for the consumer" says Jeff Powell of Powell Insurance Brokers. The result was the mantra "we'll call you".

"At CarInsuranceHelp.ca we know how busy your life is, the demands for your time in today's world, and how quickly people need to get information, so we've designed a process that takes less than a minute to start and is flexible to suit anyone's schedule." Jeff added.

CarInsuranceHelp.ca was launched to make getting a car insurance quote easy, and as a response to the typical customer service experience these days... which sadly doesn't seem to feel much like service anymore. Getting a quote takes just a few simple online steps and puts the onus on CarInsuranceHelp.ca's customer service brokers to reach you when you're available.

Visit carinsurancehelp.ca and select the type of car insurance quote you need: Standard or High Risk. Enter your name, phone number and email address. Choose your day and time for a phone call, and that's it. Someone will call you at your preferred time to get you the best rates possible.

For more information contact CarInsuranceHelp.ca.