

GREENSBORO, NC, September 25, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- TEAMSESCO is proud to unveil its updated blog, The Workbench. "In our ongoing effort to improve each customer's experience when engaging TEAMSESCO, we listened and then worked hard to create a better user experience." said Gary Corns, TEAMSESCO, director of marketing. When you visit <http://www.teamseco.blogspot.com>, you'll immediately notice the clean, updated look along with many additional features that have been added to the site.

As one of the nation's oldest and most trusted industrial repair facilities, TEAMSESCO is leading the industry in social media marketing. "We have a strong presence on FaceBook, Twitter, LinkedIn and Google+ as well as our recently redesigned website, <http://www.teamseco.com> where visitors have instant access to quotes on more than 150,000 repairs!" Corns added. "The Workbench blog gives us an opportunity to be much more reactive and spontaneous in moving information to our customers."

The Workbench blog will also feature industry-related polls, links to TEAMSESCO's social media venues as well as career postings, e-newsletter subscriptions, live customer support, videos and expert advice from some of the most highly trained repair professionals in the industry.

"Best of all, a blog, by its very nature, gives visitors the opportunity to interact. As a topic is posted, visitors can post questions and interact with TEAMSESCO as well as other viewers of The Workbench blog." says Corns. "Ours is a relationship business. And engaging our customers directly is the best way we know to build the trust required for a long, beneficial relationship."
