

NEW YORK, NY, September 25, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Rabbi Dr. Jay Bauman is a Manhattan, NY mohel. He has recently created an engaging Facebook page to enhance communication and interaction with parents searching to complete brit in Manhattan for their baby boy. With the introduction of his new social site, parents can access more personalized information, as well as learn more about other patient's' experiences with this mohel in Manhattan, NY.

Patients can easily join Dr. Bauman's Facebook page by visiting his website at <http://www.jewishbabybris.com/>

. Once a parent is in the network, they will receive instant updates from Dr. Bauman, as well as educational information on Manhattan brit for parents to better understand. In addition to updates on Dr. Bauman, a mohel doctor in Manhattan, parents can also provide feedback and comments for Rabbi Bauman and his staff.

"Today, more and more people are using the Internet for all of their personal needs, including sharing information and interacting with other people on social media websites. By building my own Facebook, I have created a unique opportunity to share educational information and communicate with parents more than ever before. Facebook allows me to get important information and announcements to parents faster than I could through my office," said Rabbi, Dr. Jay Bauman, Manhattan mohel doctor.

Parents who have joined the Facebook page for Dr. Bauman gain additional information and knowledge about the practice, as well as various treatments and products available. Rabbi Jay Bauman encourages parents to visit the Facebook page for an array of information including information on Dr. Bauman, as well as an array of educational information about brit in Manhattan. The new social site for Rabbi Jay Bauman provides a means to a wealth of valuable tools for parents outside of the office that is both fun and engaging.

In addition to visiting and joining the practice's Facebook page, parents can visit the website for access to educational information. Whether parents are looking for information on brit milah, preparation for bris, after care, family and friends honored or want to know more about a mohel surgeon in Manhattan, they can find all the information needed via the website for Rabbi, Dr. Jay Bauman. Parents can simply access the educational library and search various topics and a wide array of information will be provided.

Rabbi, Dr. Jay Bauman encourages parents to contact him whenever they have an interest or concern. From simply calling the office to visiting his practice website and joining Dr. Bauman's social network, parents can connect with their mohel doctor in Manhattan in more ways than one.

About Rabbi Jay Bauman, M.D: Rabbi, Doctor Jay Bauman was born in New York and Received his orthodox rabbinical ordination in Jerusalem. He continues to advances his learning and is presently writing course material on the subject of Yeshiva Perchai Shoshanim on the of 'Milah.' Dr. Bauman graduated from Chicago Medical School in 1982 with honors and AOA, and then in 1986. He successfully completed both his internship and residency in Obstetrics and Gynecology with honors at The Mount Sinai Medical Center in Manhattan. Dr. Jay Bauman is considered an expert in the diagnosis and treatment of women who suffer from repetitive miscarriages and fetal losses. His other area of expertise is in the early detection of fetal structural and genetic abnormalities combine with ultrasound. For 29 years, Dr. Bauman has tirelessly dedicated himself to the field of obstetrics at Mt. Sinai Hospital, North Shore University Hospital and St. Vincent's Hospital.

Media Contact: Rabbi Jay Bauman contactus@jewishbabybris.com 21 East 90 Street New York, NY 10128 (917) 459-0140 ht tp://www.jewishbabybris.com

As seen on: <http://www.epressdistribution.com/news.asp?id=2839>