

ATLANTA, GA, September 26, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Children love playing outdoors, especially in the summer time. To protect them from ticks and mosquitoes, apply insect repellants on their exposed body parts. Be sure to include their faces, taking extra care to avoid their eyes and mouths. For younger children who are still prone to putting their hands in their mouths, never apply insect-repellant on their hands. Be sure to follow the directions on the product you are using. It is not advisable to use insect repellent on infants who are younger than two months old.
