

ATLANTA, GA, September 26, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Among the million and one things you need to keep track of during a major move, planning a garage sale is probably not among the top 10 on your list. But

Atlanta movers

, A.C White, suggests finding the time to have one anyway. A garage sale will not only lessen the items you need to bring when

, it will generate extra cash as well. Depending on the quantity and quality of the items you include in your garage sale, this amount can easily reach a few hundred dollars.

This Atlanta moving company suggests planning well in advance of the day that you set for the sale. This allows you to advertise and to sort and price your merchandise accordingly. On the day of the sale, be sure you have small bills to facilitate cash transactions, bags for your buyers to place their small purchases in and plenty of help. Lively music, maybe even free drinks and home-made cookies will help liven up the day and put your browsers in a buying mood.

Pete White, Vice President of Sales for A.C. White Relocations says, "We offer excellent customer service, experienced moving professionals and in-depth knowledge of the industry as it relates to the needs and requirements of our clients. All these have helped us successfully move thousands of Atlanta families and businesses through the years. We are committed to continuing our history of excellence."
