LOS ANGELES, CA, September 27, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- If singer/model Kelsey Hamilton isn't accustomed to bright lights and standing ovations, she better get used to it. Hamilton's vocal talents infuse hip-hop, pop, rock and international music to create a sound that is purely her own.

A classic blend of original music that is as unique as it is soulful. Hailing from the "hip hop" capital of the South, Atlanta, Hamilton's sound has been influenced by some of the greats like Etta James, Bob Dylan, and the legendary Sam Cooke.

Her first guitar was made for her even before she was born by her uncle and her roots go even further back as she is a direct descendant of Thomas Jefferson.

Kelsey was a natural talent and beauty right from the start. She began modeling in elementary school in catalog/print /commercial work with Real People Models and talent and was one of their featured models.

She used her first paycheck from modeling to buy her first guitar at age 8 and the rest is history. Music and modeling have been her life ever since.

Her songwriting is meticulous. Poignant and personal, Kelsey Hamilton translates her real life experiences into the mood of her songs. Real life conflicts, struggles joys and sorrows are all interwoven throughout her songwriting and her voice seals the deal on every tune.

Hamilton is not just a terrific singer/songwriter, but an in-demand model, as well.

M.A.C Cosmetics, Nicole Miller, Levi, Jordache Jeans, Macy's and ABS are just some of the brands this beauty has represented.

Current influences for the Atlanta native are Shakira, Madonna and Gwen Stefani, to name a few.
