

PALMDALE, CA, September 28, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Everything is online now, or so it seems. Dr. Jason Oh of A V Sierra Dental Center is transitioning the practice into the digital age with a new presence on social media.

"Patients are able to stay informed on the newest information in dentistry around the clock," said Dr. Oh. "In addition to contacting us online, they are able to learn about procedures that we offer and general at-home dental hygiene techniques. They are also able to interact with others."

Any person with a desire to keep a healthy smile is encouraged to interact with the A V Sierra Dental Center online. Followers and friends of the practice do not have to be patients. Social media sites are easy ways to become familiar with the office before making an appointment.

A V Sierra Dental Center has a Twitter, Facebook page, Google+, blog and website. Information on Twitter and Facebook includes specials, reminders, blog posts and more. For instance, one of the more recent posts includes ways to maintain oral health while pregnant. Such information is crucial, as expecting a child can deplete key minerals and nutrients from the mother causing dental problems.

"Dental health isn't just about toothaches or other problems," said Dr. Oh, Palmdale dentist. "It's about quality of life. A smile can affect your overall health, confidence and more. I want patients to have a wealth of information available to them. Being good to your teeth doesn't stop when you leave the dentist, so why should we stop supporting patients when they leave our office?"

A V Sierra Dental Center is a comprehensive dental practice in Palmdale offering general, orthodontic and cosmetic dentistry. New patients require an initial oral examination to make a formal diagnosis and treatment plan.
