Written by Australian Business

BAINBRIDGE ISLAND, WA, September 30, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Pamela Stovell, Artist, has been recognized by Worldwide Who's Who for showing dedication, leadership and excellence in painting, photography and sculpting.

Ms. Stovell has been an artist for 17 years, throughout which she has gained a considerable amount of experience in painting, photography and sculpting; her subject matter of choice is the human form. Ms. Stovell attributes her success to her mentor, the late Bill Alston, who was an accomplished artist in his own right. His philosophies on life and society, coupled with his very grounded, no-nonsense approach to art, have always been guiding inspirations, motivating Ms. Stovell to push her boundaries and produce increasingly better work.

Her decision to pursue a career as an artist evolved as a result of her creative background. While she was in college, she was advised to study graphic design because the field offered promising career opportunities. As a result of her work during the dot-com boom, she attained the financial resources to consider moving on to her true passion. Though she had achieved great success as a creative consultant, the pull toward fine art was too strong for her to resist, and after much deliberation she decided to "quit the day job." She now focuses on her passion for fine art
