MIAMI BEACH, FL, October 01, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- James Bond would have one without a doubt. Those that are supporters of Sir Ian Flemming's popular agent could now be virtually like your man with a spy pen camera. Brian Bond would have one for sure. Those that are supporters of Sir Ian Flemming's popular agent could now be virtually like your man with a spy pen camera.

This orderly camera-pen could tape online video, take images as well as write.

"We've determined to construct additional worth for our consumers by including a 8gb micro SD card to our package deal to people that are in need of a spy pen camera," claimed James Chien, owner of the spy pen.

The addition of the micro SD card is only one component of Chien's pen. He will be operating an advertising quickly for the pen. The card is an 8GB and will be offered in the pen.

From September 30th to Oct 30th, anyone that buys a pen will were given a voucher for an additional ten bucks off of the current sale rate. This will bring the total savings of the pen to around 35 percent.

This may seem like an offer too excellent to be true; it most likely will be. The pen is presently moving well from the Amazon.com store, and stocks are operating reduced on the pens and cards. Possibilities are one or both may market out before the sale and certainly throughout the sale.

"Our 8gb micro SD card are in minimal supply and may not be provided again in the future" claimed Chien.

Chien and his firm market exclusively with Amazon.com. Their shipping and customer support divisions were the primary factor for choosing them. Free shipping is likewise available; browse through the site for specifics.

"Even though Amazon.com is awesome, there is no method to keep our stock available fast
