

The Universe has a New Sound

NEW YORK, NY, October 01, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Quote - "I am excited to see the "Sound of the Universe" video released. This is another step towards the production of my television project "Eve & the Bigger Apple" - Izzy Church

"Sound of the Universe" is a result from her lead role in the sci-fi dramedy TV series "Eve & the Bigger Apple", where she portrays the singer in the rock and roll band "Sexual 222s". The music revolves around pivotal moments in the storyline of the show. Her radio friendly EP includes the singles "Sound of the Universe", "Summertime" and "The Rainbow". With wild infectious melodies and beats that are sticky sweet, you'll want to rock out on the dance floor.

Quote - "Sonically, the EP is quite a "mixed bag" in that each song is at different ends of the commercial pop spectrum. "Sound of the Universe" is "poptastic" at its core. Its infectious bass augments a raw sexuality that permeates through the entire length of the song. "The Rainbow" sounds like something that could have been the musical bridge between Aussie pop princess Kylie Minogue's "X" era and "Aphrodite" era. The song's catchy chorus "do you really believe; only the strong survive" is bound to get stuck in listeners' heads. Needless to say, the track's production is VERY European. "Summertime" is without a doubt the musical twin of "Promiscuous" by Nelly Furtado and Timbaland. A hip-hop fan will be more than pleased by the track." - Source: <http://www.radiocremebrulee.com>
