

LANSING, MI, October 02, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- EnviroFry announces the introduction of high-tech mold inspection and mold removal for homes, apartments, offices, and commercial and government buildings in Lansing, East Lansing, Ann Arbor, Battle Creek, Haslett, Hastings, Jackson, Owosso, St. Johns, Webberville, and elsewhere in central Michigan.

EnviroFry is based in Montrose, Michigan, only one hour from the Lansing area via the I-69 freeway.

Company personnel available for Lansing and central Michigan mold inspection and mold removal assignments include Phillip Fry and Divine Fry, company co-managers, who are both Certified Environmental Hygienists, Certified Mold Inspectors, Certified Mold Remediators, and environmental management consultants, plus Todd Strickland, Certified Mold Remediator, who also has extensive mold removal and construction experience nationwide.

Fry became the first full-time mold inspector in the USA, starting his nationwide mold inspection business in 1999, two years ahead of most people even becoming aware of the health dangers of exposure to toxic mold as the result of Dan Rather's "48 Hours" magazine program on CBS-TV in 2001 that reported in detail about the Stachybotrys mold infestation problem that ruined the health of a young family living in a newly-constructed, Stachybotrys black mold-infested home in Dripping Springs, Texas.

Exposure to elevated levels of mold infestation at home or at work can cause over 100 major illnesses and diseases, according to Mr. Fry, who is author of Mold Health Guide and four other mold advice ebooks, all of which are available for purchase online at <http://www.moldmart.net>.

The EnviroFry team utilizes the latest and best high-tech methods and equipment such as high-output ozone generators, air scrubbers, and mold fogging machines to kill, and remove toxic mold.

Lansing and other central Michigan mold victims can get free help and advice by emailing Phillip Fry phil@moldinspector.com, or by phoning Phillip Toll-Free 1-866-300-1616, or by calling Phillip's cell phone 1-480-310-7970, or by visiting <http://www.moldvictimrights.com>.
