ABOUT LISSA LAURIA: She is more than an alluring face, she is also a Quadruple-threat (singer, songwriter, rapper and actress). The New York native, Lissa Lauria, is not entirely new to the scene. The youngest of 4, she has been booking local, regional and nationals commercials from the time she was 6 years old as well as appearances on Nickelodeon's Slime Time Live, The Rosie O'Donnell Show and the lead in the film The Kiss.

By 15 years old, Lauria and her family moved to the west coast in hopes of achieving greater opportunities for the budding starlet. Upon the move, she quickly lanted a lead role in the rock music film All Ages Night and a lead in a pile How To Survive High School

Fast forward to today and Lissa Lauria's cross country move has built a cross country resume to go with it. Still active in film and TV, music began to take a dominant step in her career. Working with Eddie Galan of Mach 1 Music Group (Multi-Platinum Producer of the High School Musical franchise) as well as multi-nominated grammy producer Young Yonny and multi-platinum and grammy nominated singer/songwriter team the Jackie Boyz, Lissa has written over 30 original singles for various projects and other artists. She has not only written for others, but she has been saving the best for last.

Lissa Lauria also founded The I AM Movement to support teens and young adults who are dealing with traumatic issues such as suicidal thoughts, cutting, drugs, alcoholism and low self-esteem.
