

ANCHORAGE, AK, October 04, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Drs. Lee and Kim of Whole Family Dental, Anchorage, AK dentists, have released new patient education resources through their interactive website. The patients can easily access the practice's website for valuable information on dental health care topics and issues at any time.

Patients can visit the practice's website to access an education library to view information on various dental health topics they may want to discover. Through the education library, patients can search various procedures performed by Drs. Lee and Kim, dentists in Anchorage, AK, such as children's dentistry, sedation dentistry and emergency care.

The patient education library was developed to make dental care easily accessible and to provide more knowledge for the patients before they come into the office. Dr. Edwin Kim, dentist in Anchorage, is confident this new patient portal to educational tools will benefit his patients in more ways than one. Whether the patient wants to know more about sedation dentistry, children's dentistry, teeth whitening and emergency care, it is all readily available at their fingertips through the library.

"It is important for our patients to know what it is that we do and how we do it in order to deliver the best dental care possible. Our new website makes the entire new patient process more efficient, educates patients for increased confidence and improves the level of valuable information that can be obtained about our practice," says Dr. Edwin Kim, Anchorage dentist.

Whole Family Dental specializes in general, family and sedation dentistry in Anchorage and is devoted to exceeding the expectations of every patient served. Patients looking for experienced dental care need not look any further. Whole Family Dental is committed to developing life-long relationships with their patients, and the availability of the education library via the new website is further proof of this commitment.
