Written by Australian Business

NEW YORK, NY, October 05, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Soft4boost Ltd, a leading company that provides user-friendly PC software applications, recently announced that it has released Screen Recorder which is an affordable, versatile screen capture application for Windows that makes it easy to grab screen data, enhance and add make the image in recording process.

Soft4boost Screen Recorder provides complete flexibility when capturing images from the screen. Users can grab the full screen, active window, active window client, or any window, button, or control on the screen. The image can be captured as a rectangle, square, ellipse, circle, or polygon. Soft4boost Screen Recorder even captures DirectX screens from the latest computer games.

With Soft4Boost Screen Recorder users can create any hotkey to start the image capturing process. Captured screen shots can be sent automatically to the clipboard or saved to the hard drive.

With three clicks, your image can be enhanced with an arrow of any size, pointing in any direction. All of the image manipulation tools are available on the screen, and may be selected with a single click.

Whether you're a business person who needs an integrated set of tools to capture screen images for a sales presentation, a student who needs to grab information from the Internet and annotate it for a class assignment, or a hobbyist who wants to capture and enhance computer images for your album or scrapbook, Soft4Boost Screen Recorder provides all the tools that you'll need, in a single, easy-to-use application.

Soft4Boost Screen Recorder is available as a free download from the Soft4Boost website and has an easy-to-use interface that is available in English, Danish, French, German, Spanish, Italian, Russian, Turkish and Hungarian.
