

Bakersfield, CA, October 8, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Lyn Louise Rous, retired Family Nurse Practitioner, has been named a Worldwide Who's Who Professional of the Year in Health Care. While inclusion in Worldwide Who's Who is an honor, only a small selection of members in each discipline are chosen for this distinction. These special honorees are distinguished based on their professional accomplishments, academic achievements, leadership abilities, years of service, and the credentials they have provided in association with their Worldwide Who's Who membership.

Whether treating families or taking an active role in her local church, Ms. Rous has dedicated her life and career to serving others. Formerly a family nurse practitioner providing women's health services, she moved into a role working specifically with young children, helping some transition from abusive homes into foster care. She also assisted adults struggling to free themselves from the grips of addiction, focusing on rejuvenating their mental and physical health.

Now in her retirement, Ms. Rous is deepening her walk in faith and pursuing a diploma in biblical studies. Having served on missions to Colombia and Nicaragua in the past, she has plans to evangelize within the United States and continue to fulfill her passion for working with abused children.

Ms. Rous received a master's degree in nursing with a family practitioner option. She holds a leadership position in her church and enjoys making personalized items for her family members as a hobby.
