

Edmonton Home Builder, Pacesetter, Wins Builder of the Year Award for Their Multi-Family Unit

Written by Australian Business

EDMONTON, AB, October 09, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- These days, finding a reliable and trustworthy home builder is rare. However, there is a local Edmonton builder who has always gone the extra mile for their clients, which is certainly a refreshing change in the home building industry. As a result, they were recently awarded the Builder of the Year Award for 2013 by the Canadian Home Builders' Association in Edmonton.

Pacesetter specializes in the construction of various family dwellings. These include, but are certainly not limited to, multi-family units and freestanding houses. Although they are more widely known for the construction of new homes, they are also more than willing to assist with renovations on existing properties.

Whether you are in the market for a brand new single-family dwelling or whether your current budget has been limited to that of a smaller multi-family unit or townhouse, Pacesetter is the ideal company to contact. They will assist you with every step of the purchase and construction process, ensuring that you as the customer are completely satisfied with the end result. Moving into your new home has never been easier.
