proudly announces the launch of a newly designed website that highlights their expertise and knowledge in both commercial and residential fencing options.

At Summit Fence North, they offer a wide array of fencing options for your home or business. No matter whether you desire a wood fence , ornamental iron fence , or wrought iron fence , the company has you covered. Homeowners can also choose from metal fences for swimming pools, and chain link fences for pet enclosures and kennels, while businesses can have chain link fences installed. Besides fencing, Summit Fence North provides gates in all shapes and sizes, ensuring you can match your gate to your fence. They also offer gates with access control, allowing you to determine who has the ability to enter your property.

According to the company website, it is Summit Fence North's mission to provide homeowners and businesses with the privacy, protection, and prestige they need. One way they meet this goal is by install the highest quality pickets for your fence and bringing extra pickets and materials to the job site. They also make sure all nails are driven flush with the face of the picket, enabling your fence to look better and last longer.

Summit Fence North's new look website is visually appealing, but what makes it truly stand out is the amount of information it contains. There is a page devoted to answering frequently asked questions, and another page covers what to do before buying a fence. On the page devoted to chain link fencing for businesses, the company takes the time to explain how this type of fence benefits companies with video security systems.

Summit Fence North stands behind the quality of their work. Photos of residential and commercial fences they have installed can be found in two separate photo galleries on the website.
