

HONOLULU, HI, October 10, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- At Okabe Dental Arts, Dr. Jonathan Okabe wants his patients to be healthy and enjoy life. To help his patients do this, Dr. Okabe continues to offer his patients in Honolulu veneers for an excellent way to restore their smile by masking dental blemishes. Masking mild to moderate tooth discolorations, correcting minor misalignments and rotation of anterior teeth, and re-shaping peg-shaped and undersized teeth are just a few improvements porcelain veneers in Honolulu can provide patients.

"With dental veneers my patients can find a solution for improving nearly all of their dental blemishes. While this procedure is not for everyone, I am available to provide each patient with a consultation to determine the best cosmetic procedure available for their smile restoration," said Dr. Jonathan Okabe, a dentist in Honolulu.

To determine if a patient is a candidate for dental veneers in Honolulu, Dr. Okabe will schedule a preliminary consultation during which his or her oral health will be evaluated and the available treatment options will be discussed. Veneer treatment is irreversible, which is why Dr. Jonathan Okabe will discuss any alternatives that provide the same results, but with minimal to no removal of tooth structure. If the patient and Dr. Okabe decide that veneers are the best option, the next step will involve a thorough review of the details of the procedure.

During the initial consultation, patients will actively participate in the smile design process because by sharing their preferences he or she will help to ensure that the veneer treatment will meet their expectations. It is important that Dr. Jonathan Okabe, Honolulu dentist, understands each patient's objectives when undergoing the veneer procedure.

"Some people are born with teeth that are more yellow than others, while others have teeth that yellow with age. Your natural tooth color can also be affected by an array of other factors including tobacco, tea, coffee, red wine and trauma. With veneers, I can help my patients improve the appearance of their smiles so that they no longer need to hide their teeth," said Dr. Okabe, Honolulu cosmetic dentist.

By visiting Dr. Jonathan Okabe at Okabe Dental Arts, patients will be able to receive further assessment and treatment of their smile. With dental veneers in Honolulu at Okabe Dental Arts, patients can easily restore their smiles.
