

FAIRBORN, OH, October 10, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- At Beavercreek Dental Group, Dr. Charles Dean, dentist serving Fairborn, OH, strives to help his patients better understand their oral health. To help patients understand their dental health, Dr. Dean is pleased to introduce new educational resources via the practice's patient friendly and easy to use website. Patients can now easily access dental information to better understand the importance of maintaining proper dental health.

The patient education library for Beavercreek Dental Group offers an array of informational dental articles and topics such as cosmetic procedures, dental problems, pain management and treatment options. Whether patients have questions about tooth pain or want more information on a cosmetic procedure, such as dental implants near Fairborn, they can easily access this information conveniently from the comfort of their home computer.

"I want to make sure that all of my patients fully understand the importance of dental health and the options available to them at Beavercreek Dental Group. By including an educational library and educational videos, my patients can stay ahead of the latest treatments and dental health care even when my office is closed. No matter what time of day it is, I hope my patients will continue to utilize these valuable resources," said Dr. Charles Dean, a Beavercreek and Fairborn dentist.

In addition to the article-based dental library, patients can also view educational videos. The videos offer a visual look at different dental treatments and topics. When a question arises, patients can simply search through the dental library, or videos, of dental topics, including articles, fun facts, and more.

The patient friendly website for Beavercreek Dental Group includes valuable information about Dr. Charles Dean, a cosmetic dentist near Fairborn, his staff, the location of their office and several other features. New patients can visit the website to download and print new patient paperwork to better prepare themselves for their first appointment. By filling out important paperwork before the initial appointment, patients can spend more quality time with Dr. Dean and his staff, and less time completing first visit forms.

Dr. Charles Dean is a well known dentist serving Fairborn, Beavercreek and Dayton, OH areas for providing quality dental care, service and helpful education for each patient. He provides the commitment and expertise that patients look for in a Fairborn, OH dentist, which can be further seen through the educational resources via Beavercreek Dental Group's website.
