

Patients In Waldorf, MD Are Invited To Review Pinefield Dental Online

Written by Australian Business

WALDORF, MD, October 13, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- If you like something, say something -- that's the motto Waldorf, MD dentist Dr. Kai Rehder says to his patients. Dr. Rehder invites his patients to review the Pinefield Dental office on a number of consumer-driven websites.

Visit Dr. Rehder's website at www.pinefielddental.com and click on the "Review Us" bar at the bottom of the page. This will re-direct you to a new page that has six review options: Google, Yahoo!, InsiderPages, yelp, MerchantCircle and Kudzu. If you continue to scroll down, one-minute instructional videos are available for how to write a review on Google and Yelp are available.

"Hearing firsthand from our current patients helps a prospective patient understand what it feels like for to receive care at Pinefield Dental," says Dr. Rehder, a dentist in Waldorf, MD. "Review also allow us to understand what we do well and if there are ways we can improve services to you."

The average American spends an estimated 52 hours each year looking for information on the Internet. If you search for information on Pinefield Dental, a Waldorf, MD dental practice, you may read comments like this one on Superpages.com "Love this office! From the staff to the doctors...when I am in the chair, I received 100 percent undivided attention."

On Kudzu, reviewer Glo3051 rates Dr. Rehder, a dentist in Waldorf, MD, a 5 out of 5 stars, calling him "The Best." According to the reviewer, "The atmosphere is very warm, kind, friendly, professional and courteous that expands from the dentists to the technicians, and even other patients waiting for care! I have never felt more at ease and comfortable in a place that's always dreaded by many."

A survey from 1-800-DENTIST found that 70 percent of dental patients said online ratings influenced who they chose as a dentist. Also, a large percentage of dental patients also said that patient reviews were just as important as a dentist's credentials in choosing a dentist.

In addition to excellent online reviews, Dr. Rehder has excellent dental credentials. He is a graduate of the University of Minnesota Dental School and has been in dental practice since 1995. He is a member of several professional dental organizations, including the American Medical Association and Maryland State Dental Association.
