

Introducing the UltraSatin Finish for Plantation Shutters from Eclipse Shutters

Written by Australian Business

ATLANTA, GA, October 15, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Eclipse Shutters is pleased to announce the arrival of its new UltraSatin finish shutters. UltraSatin finish almost perfectly mimics that of painted wood, and it is available on a wide selection of Eclipse Shutters' custom built faux plantation shutters .

UltraSatin finish provides homeowners with the beautiful look of a premium painted shutter without the maintenance of having to periodically re-paint. This revolutionary technology will never fade, crack, chip, peel or warp the way that traditionally painted indoor shutters would, allowing you to enjoy its beauty for many years. The only maintenance UltraSatin shutters ever need is occasional dusting and cleaning.

Each UltraSatin finished shutter provides homeowners with a waterproof surface that is easily cleaned with soap and water. These shutters are also resistant to microbes and fungal growth, which make UltraSatin the perfect finish to use in your kitchen, bathrooms, nursery, or other heavily trafficked areas.

Eclipse Shutters feels so confident about the durability and longevity of its UltraSatin faux wood shutters that each shutter comes with a 25-year warranty.

"We are very excited about the UltraSatin technology," says Shannon Hodges, Business Manager for Eclipse Shutters. "These shutters look like painted wood, but they have none of the drawbacks that have always accompanied wood shutters. We feel certain that our customers will love the convenience and low maintenance of UltraSatin shutters almost as much as they love the way they look."
