

Third Tonya Sharp Hyche Thriller Crime Novel in Trilogy, Painted Fear, Makes Perfect Halloween Treat

Written by Australian Business

HOUSTON, TX, October 30, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Dr. Lindy Ashley finds herself in the crosshairs of a patient whose true identity remains hidden in Painted Fear. FBI agent Matthew Blake is once again called to the scene when a suspect of the Night Killer is found dead. Is this a coincidence—or did he miss something the first time around? For Jamie Conrad, it would certainly be nice if it were the former. After the cases that rocked Central University and the Caribbean left her life in tatters, she has slowly begun to put the pieces back together. Now in love and trying to learn to trust again, Jamie has to wonder whether her fear is real or imagined when FBI Agent Matthew Blake shows up in her life once again. Readers no longer have to choose between a steamy book and a thriller novel. Hyche binds elements of each genre in Painted Fear.

The episode featuring Tonya Sharp Hyche and her family is rearing on HGTV on October 31st, Halloween, at 11:30e/p & 2:30e/p. After a previous airing of the show in July, Tonya Sharp Hyche reached the rank of 1001 in the Amazon author rank list.

Tonya Sharp Hyche lived in Australia for two years and wrote her first novels in Australia and her novel Breathless shares the experience of living in Australia with her readers. While in Australia, she appeared on a number of local best sellers list and sold books at markets around the country.
