

TAMPA, FL, November 8, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Eric P. Jones, has been recognized by Worldwide Who's Who for showing dedication, leadership and excellence in information technology.

Mr. Jones has 30 years of experience in IT, and his experiences goes across many areas to include computer programming, system administration and engineering, large data system management, and project management; his latest job has given him the additional qualification of Agile Scrum Master for a large investment reporting project.

Mr. Jones has spent eight years in the private sector and prior to that, he spent 20 years in the U.S. Army, retiring as a sergeant first class. His most notable military achievement was leading a team of 15 personnel to test, transport and build the first multimillion-dollar U.S. Central Command's Forward Headquarters C4 network in Qatar. During that period his team was awarded the General Rawlins Team Award 2002 Small team category. He also led the multimillion dollar project that brought in temporary trailers to house the Operation Iraqi Freedom Coalition partners. The project included the placement, furnishing, network connectivity, telephones, furniture and power plant build outs.

Mr. Jones received an MBA and a master's degree in project management from the Keller Graduate School of Management. He also holds a bachelor's degree in Technology Management and an associate degree in computer science, both from DeVry University. In 2010, Mr. Jones received the prestigious Partners in Practice Award from Booz Allen Hamilton. He is pursuing Project Management Professional and Project Plus certifications. In years to come, he aspires to continue developing professionally.
