PHILADELPHIA, PA, November 08, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Michael W. Cardamone, managing attorney for the Blue Bell, Pa. office of Krasno, Krasno & Onwudinjo, was recognized at the 2013 Pro Bono Publico Awards Ceremony and Roll of Honor hosted by the First Judicial District of Pennsylvania. The annual event, which took place at City Hall in Center City on October 23, honors members of the Pennsylvania Bar Association who are outstanding in providing free legal services to underprivileged citizens in Philadelphia.

Mr. Cardamone was nominated for the Pro Bono Publico Award by judges and other officials who were privy to the work he's done for others. Once nominated, he was then selected to the 2013 Roll of Honor, which recognizes attorneys who have performed pro bono work in the City of Philadelphia between October 1, 2012 and September 27, 2013.

As a senior trial attorney who devotes 100% of his practice to representing injured workers, Mr. Cardamone is one of only approximately 75 attorneys in the entire state who is a certified specialist in Pennsylvania workers' compensation law. Since 1999, he has successfully handled thousands of cases for injured workers and has netted millions of dollars in wage loss and medical benefits for his clients. In February 2005 he joined Krasno, Krasno & Onwudinjo, which is widely recognized as a top workers' compensation firm. Mr. Cardamone has achieved the highest Avvo Rating of 10/10 or "Superb." A Lansdale resident, he is a graduate of St. Joseph's Prep, Boston College, and Villanova Law.

"Michael demonstrates on a daily basis his commitment to seeking justice for everyone. He is a strong advocate for all injured workers, regardless of their position in life," said Jason Krasno, managing partner of Krasno, Krasno & Onwudinjo. "We applaud him for receiving this illustrious honor from the courts."
