ST. MARY'S, ANTIGUA, May 10, 2014 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Jehu Hand is an accomplished and respected securities attorney with over 30 years of experience in the legal profession. A graduate of the New York University School of Law, Jehu Hand has developed an extensive legal career, providing both clients and firms with expert legal services for over three decades. First admitted to practice in 1984, he has been able to cultivate many lasting professional relationships during his career, and has become known as one of the premier independent securities in both the Caribbean and in the United States.

An innovate thinker and visionary business leader, Jehu Hand is responsible for the invention of the "Form 10 Shell Company," a model that has been followed by numerous professionals since its inception. He is the recent recipient of a Legal Education Certificate from the Eugene Dupuch School of Law, a respected institution located in Nassau. Jehu Hand currently remains a member of the California Bar Association, and has been an Attorney at Law in the State of California since 1986. From 1992 to 2010, he was licensed by FINRA as an Audit Committee Financial Expert for developmental stage companies under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, possessing Series 7, 24 and 63 licenses during that time. Jehu Hand is now in control of Jackson Corporate Trust Company Limited, a corporate trust provider he had recently founded in Antigua.

Jehu Hand has earned the recognition and respect of his professional colleagues for the services and expertise he has provided as a securities and corporate lawyer. He has served multiple notable firms with distinction over the past 30 years. As a young associate, Jehu Hand had the honor of being assigned to the representation of The Limited and BancOne of Ohio. He is also proud to have had the opportunity to receive training from and work with the firm of Schwartz, Kelm, Warren and Rubenstein, a group he credits with providing him the foundation for what has been a highly productive and successful legal career. Jehu Hand was a Partner with the California-based firm of Day, Campbell & Hand from January to December of 1990 before transitioning to the position of shareholder with McKittrick, Jackson, DeMarco & Peckenpaugh, a law corporation that, at the time, had been the fifth largest firm in Orange County, California.

Jehu Hand was involved with Biolase Technology, Inc. from January to December of 1992, serving the company as Vice President-Corporate Counsel and Secretary during that time. He became Director of Biolase in February of 1992, serving in this position for one year. He helped to transform Biolase, once a family-owned designer, marketer and manufacturer of dental lasers, into a full-fledged public company during that time. Jehu Hand's exemplary leadership ability and professional legal expertise was instrumental in the company's transition into an industry-leading dental laser manufacturer.

Jehu Hand then served as Counsel to the Law Firm of Lewis, D'Amato, Brisbois&Bisgaard from
