

Drop-Off Shredding Service Now Offered in Barrie

Written by Australian Business

BARRIE, ON, May 24, 2014 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Local document destruction company Shred North is now offering a drop-off paper shredding service at their Barrie location. The service is the first of its kind in Barrie and is designed to make it easier for residents and businesses to dispose of confidential documents and assist in the reduction of identity theft.

Although crime rates in general have been on the decline in Canada during recent years, incidents involving identity theft are sharply on the rise, making it one of the fastest growing crimes in the country.

Often, when faced with the daunting task of shredding large amounts of paper, citizens have often simply disposed of documents into the landfill without thoughts of the consequences. Now, with an alternative option, the hope is that residents will take advantage of the service and help reduce their risk of documents falling into the wrong hands.

"Identity theft is a real problem and people should take care when disposing of personal information", states Ryan Giffen, owner of Shred North. "Although it's relatively easy to shred a few pieces of paper, people are often faced with boxes of old documents, many of which contain sensitive information. By providing a place for people to drop off these documents to be shredded at a nominal cost, we're hoping to be able to help do our part to make the community safer by reducing identity theft".

Shred North offers a fully mobile shredding service which comes right to your home or office and provides on-site shredding of documents. Faced with liability issues, local businesses looking for ways to securely dispose of confidential records, client information and financial records can call Shred North to reduce their risk.

Shred North began offering document destruction services in 2012 and was named the "New Business of the Year" by the Greater Barrie Chamber of Commerce in its inaugural year of operation.

"We're proud to be a part of the Barrie business community", states Giffen. "We believe in keeping our business local. By offering a local option for people to drop-off their documents, we are hoping to prevent local businesses and citizens from having to go outside of our community for this service".
