

ATLANTA, GA, August 21, 2014 /24-7PressRelease/ -- The Patel Burkhalter Law Group, formerly MJ Patel Law Group, unveiled its new name and logo today. The Atlanta-based firm, which provides business owners with legal counsel and services, announced the updates with the promotion of new equity partner, Brian Burkhalter.

Brian joined the firm in 2011 to provide legal counsel and litigation services for entrepreneurs in the construction, commercial interests, insurance and transportation industries. "While the name has changed to Patel Burkhalter to reflect our new structure, the services we provide and our focus on partnering with our clients as outsourced counsel remains the same," says founding partner Mitesh Patel. "It is always our goal to develop deep relationships with our clients, in essence becoming their legal partners. We are proud that most of our clients rely on us just as they would internal counsel, and we plan to continue delivering that level of service and advice."

With the name change come updates to Patel Burkhalter's branding as well. The logo has been redesigned to reflect the merger of the two equity partners. In the redesign, the overall branding, style and color palette have been retained to reinforce the important fact that the exceptionally high level of service clients receive will remain consistent. The firm's website has also been updated to reflect the new name and can now be found at <http://www.patelburkhalter.com>.

"Building on our mission of investing in the empowerment, inspiration and success of entrepreneurs, we are committed to continuing to redefine the way law firm services are provided - with compassion, respect and loyalty," says Brian. "I'm excited about some new endeavors we have coming down the pike and look forward to new opportunities to assist our clients and contribute to their success."
