

Screaming Bee Spices-up Online Education with a Free Voice Sharing Service

Written by Australian Business

PALM COAST, FL, November 19, 2014 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Screaming Bee Inc. is pleased to release a voice recording and message sharing service that runs from a number of Web browsers and mobile devices. Voice Spice allows users to record and share a voice message on Facebook , Twitter , Gmail and more.

"Voice Spice adds an innovative twist to voice message sharing with high-quality voice morphing and one-click posting on social media," explains Mark Ramirez, CEO of Screaming Bee. He adds, "We've worked hard on releasing a voice sharing service that is available on as many platforms as possible. You can record from almost any web browser, iPhone, Android or even a Windows Phone. Users can then share a voice message on Facebook, Twitter, or just email a link to their friends or teachers."

The Voice Spice service uses high-quality, low-bandwidth recordings that can easily be used by educators, tutors, and anyone that needs to share or receive audio messages from their students. Voice Spice is an excellent tool for online foreign language classes or any other course that requires sharing voice messages. It has been successfully used by a number of schools from around the world.

Voice Spice on the Mac or PC computers browser does not need any special software to download or account setup. With just an ordinary Web browser, users can immediately begin recording messages. Voice Spice only requires a microphone and access to the Internet.

Voice Spice also is available as a mobile app for the iPhone , Windows Phone, and a number of Android devices. Optimized to run natively on each device, Voice Spice allows users to record and share messages away from home or on the road. These messages can also be downloaded and saved on your mobile device, even used as ringtones.

You can add a little zest to Voice Spice recordings with superior-quality voice morphing ability. Users can choose from five different target voices such as the Hell Demon, Space Squirrel, Male, Female or the Robot.

With one-click sharing, Voice Spice users can conveniently share their voice messages with others on many social media sites; this includes Facebook, Twitter, Gmail, and more. Users can share a voice message with any number of people just by sharing a link to their recording. Friends and family can now communicate to each other in ways that plain text cannot.

Screaming Bee Spices-up Online Education with a Free Voice Sharing Service

Written by Australian Business

Voice Spice is a free service that requires no account setup. For more information, visit the Voice Spice website at: <http://voicespice.com> .

Voice Spice is a trademark of Screaming Bee Inc. iPhone and Mac are registered trademarks of Apple Inc. Facebook is a trademark of Facebook Inc. Twitter is a registered trademark of Twitter Inc, Gmail and Android are a trademark of Google Inc.

About Screaming Bee Inc. Provider of voice software and solutions for online games, VoIP and the professional studio. Their leading-edge technologies are used in the defense sector, education departments, animation studios, online games, voice talent services and radio broadcasting. For more information about Screaming Bee, visit <http://www.screamingbee.com> .