

Anand Balasubramanian, MD, Honored for Excellence in Internal Medicine

Written by Australian Business

HOUSTON, TX, November 19, 2014 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Anand Balasubramanian, MD, Physician of Houston North West Primary Care, has been recognized for showing dedication, leadership and excellence in internal medicine.

Dr. Balasubramanian has 10 years of professional experience, and is currently a physician at Houston North West Primary Care. As an expert in internal medicine, he became involved in his profession because he had an interest and passion to provide health care to seniors and patients with compassion and respect.

Dr. Balasubramanian received an MD from Thanjavur Medical College in 1992. He was recently inducted into Worldwide Registry and also maintains affiliation with the American College of Physicians and the Harris County Medical Society. In years to come, Dr. Balasubramanian intends to work within his community and develop relationships with the older population.

For more information about Houston North West Primary Care, visit <http://www.hnwprimarycare.com>