

Charities Could Suffer Due to New Pension Freedoms

Written by Business News

New research* from Foresters, the international financial services organisation, has revealed that the pensions freedoms could impact on how much the 60+ age group donate to charity.