

Don't Stress the Small Stuff: NASA's One-Year Mission Research Helps Combat Stress and Fatigue

Written by Business News

Behavioral Health investigations are being conducted aboard the International Space Station to learn more about the brain and how it responds to stress and fatigue in space.