

Summer of Soil Moisture Sensing Culminates in One-Day Educational Conference Tradeshow in Missouri

Written by Business News

Missouri University is hosting a soil moisture sensing event to help growers and consultants learn more about available wireless soil moisture sensing technology, platforms, and available funding that can help optimize farming operations.