

EventNut Event Ticketing Platform Launches Paid Events Functionality

Written by Business News

EventNut, a new hosted event ticketing platform, is looking to redefine online event registration with the launch of its paid event functionality, which offers professional-level features for significantly less than the competition.