

A California based company designing and manufacturing CNC foam cutters announces its plans to expand its production and equipment to serve larger variety of industries.