

(PRLEAP.COM) Anaheim Hills, Calif. – November 15, 2013 – onthenetOffice has quickly positioned itself as a leader in the hosted desktop industry. Created by CEO Alexander Saca in 1997, onthenetOffice has been at the forefront of cloud computing and hosted solutions for more than 15 years; with its recent website redesign, the company now emphasizes its focus on providing hosted virtual desktop solutions. CEO Alexander Saca says hosted desktops are a great solution for business clients.

"Desktop hosting provides clients with a way to quickly and securely access their desktops from anywhere," Saca said. Their hosted desktop appears and functions just like a Windows desktop; but instead of being deployed on an individual computer, their hosted desktop is housed in a cutting edge data center and can be accessed using any Internet-enabled device. The hosted desktop they access using their smartphone is the exact same desktop they access on their computer at work."

These days, a business owner can search online for "hosted desktop" or "desktop hosting" and find a large number of companies touting hosted virtual desktop solutions. What sets onthenetOffice apart from other hosted desktop providers is the company's expertise and unique features, which are not offered by other hosted desktop solutions. These features and benefits include (but are not limited to):

SMX Speed Technology. A unique combination of technologies, protocols, and best practices that allows onthenetOffice to deliver the world's fastest hosted desktop solution available.
